

Maximizing Your Research Impact

Research Competence Webinar Series

Click to join by Zoom: URL

This webinar series is presented by the Local Capacity Development of the Feed the Future Innovation Lab for Livestock Systems in collaboration with Dr. Terry Kit Selfe and the University of Florida Libraries.

The webinars are for faculty, researchers, and graduate students in Burkina Faso, Ethiopia, Kenya, Nepal, Niger, Rwanda, and Uganda.

Webinar Series 2022

Friday, Mar 25
8:00 am EST

Introduction to Research Impact: This webinar will introduce metrics commonly used to measure research impact

Friday, Apr 8
8:00 AM EST

ORCID and Friends: This webinar will cover creating your ORCID ID and linking it to Dimensions to add articles to your researcher profile with one click.

Friday, Apr 29
8:00 AM EST

Publish, Don't Perish: Tools to make writing and publishing your article easier: This webinar will be a broad introduction to writing a manuscript for submission to a peer-reviewed journal.

Friday, May 13
8:00 AM EST

From First Draft to Published Article: Navigating the publishing process: This webinar will cover the steps involved in getting a journal article published. The focus will be on the manuscript submission process.

Friday, June 10
8:00 AM EST

Avoiding Predatory Journals: Make your publication count: This webinar will introduce participants to predatory journals and how to avoid them.

Friday, June 24
8:00 AM EST

Tools for Managing Your Researcher Profile: This webinar will introduce a number of online tools participants can use to manage their researcher profile.

Webinar materials will be available online, under Local Capacity Development cross-cutting theme of the Feed the Future Innovation Lab for Livestock Systems (<https://livestocklab.ifas.ufl.edu>).

livestock-lab@ufl.edu